Welcome

THIS HAS BEEN a year of change and refreshment – a new home for the Festival Company together with new team members – as we continue to pursue our year-round objectives.

From nurturing young readers and supporting established and emerging writers to working with schools across the region, we are committed to our vision that 'a community of books changes lives'.

But this year has also been tinged with sadness as we mourn the passing of Sandra McDowall, a genuine Wigtownshire lady who devoted herself to so many different committees and causes, including our own. She made a real difference to this community – she will be greatly missed.

We continue to be so grateful to all our generous supporters – friends, funders, sponsors, volunteers, the local community, our authors, our audiences and of course our tireless festival team, with particular thanks to our festival programmer, Lee Randall.

Please enjoy a wonderful Wigtown welcome as you immerse yourself in this year's festival – ten days of extraordinary and memorable literary and cultural experiences.

Cathy Agnew Chair of Trustees

"PATINA, GLOSS AND WHORL... weathering is what I would like to do well," wrote Wigtownshire poet Alastair Reid in his famous poem. In his centenary year, this festival brings together some remarkable stories: brothers who rowed across the Pacific, witnesses to the war in Ukraine, explorers of the stars, and seekers of treasures beneath the earth. From kirkyard chronicles to literary boot camps, endangered languages to a planet under pressure, and family matters of all shapes and sizes. This year's programme celebrates life in all its complexities – a celebration of 'weathering', perhaps.

Take some time with us. Dive into creative trails, tours and discoveries throughout the festival. In this National Year of Reading, from Scotland's National Book Town, we're excited to share with you this love letter to stories of every kind.

FESTIVAL FEELS, FOREVER ENERGY.

Themes 2026

Family Matters

Our lives are governed by family — the ones we have, the ones we lack, the ones we create. Across a range of fiction and non-fiction offerings, our authors are exploring ideas around love, grief, estrangement, birth, death, motherhood, ageing and caring.

Change the Stories

Climate change can feel too big to contemplate, much less affect. Wigtown Book Festival continues its commitment to finding fresh ways to look at the ongoing crisis, while alerting you to the inspiring people and countries finding ways to make a difference.

Phraseology

We celebrate Scots, Gaelic, lost languages, and literature in translation, with events diving deep into humanity's most important communication tool: language.

Lives & Times

From the 'Great Dictator' Barbara Cartland to celebrated Scottish scientist James Hutton, with stops along the way to marvel at spy-makers, the world's first female surgeon, Chinese emperors and others, this year sees a raft of fascinating people spring to life on our stages.

Workshops

Get inspiration, insider information, and one-to-one tuition from a range of talented writers, photographers, and storytellers appearing at this year's festival. Places are limited, so book early!

Scottish Debut Novels

Meet tomorrow's stars today, and get in on the ground floor of careers that are full of promise. Support a new writer now and you'll be able to say "I was there first!"

Out & About

If you love being outdoors, we've got you covered with walks featuring local lore, bookshop visits and women's history, outdoor workshops for writers, filmmakers, and foragers, even a literature-inspired series of boot camp fitness hours!

Witches & Other Lore

Whether it's tales of dark sorcery or real-life stories of persecution, surprising news about Scottish vampires or a history of fairies, we've got something for anyone musing about whether there's magic at play in the world.

The Write Stuff

Adding to this year's film strand, Driftwood Cinema has joined forces with Wigtown Book Festival to present a curated selection of films with literary links and sessions with filmmakers exploring aspects of the industry.

YA: Poetry, Protest, Place

Make a scene, slam!, explore silence as safety, celebrate schools along the Solway, learn Scots and sign-painting, play with stories and eco-zines, nature and more. Our young adult events are open to all and free if you're under 26.

THE BOOK TOWN

"There is no Frigate like a Book
To take us Lands away,"

- Emily Dickinson

A book town can't exist without its bookshops. Wigtown's are a national treasure, little temples
to serendipity, full of books you never knew you needed before browsing. More than 250,000 titles line their shelves. Laid end to end, they would stretch to Dumfries. There is an alchemy that happens in bookshops and Wigtown is a perfect haven for book lovers. Take some time out from the bustle of the festival to explore the Book Town's many book-related businesses. Each book bought helps write the next chapter of Scotland's National Book Town.

The Making of Scotland's National Book Town

In the mid-1990s, it was suggested that a "book town"
on the model of Hay-on-Wye
would be a good way to help
regenerate a community
in Scotland.

Six small towns with varying economic needs submitted bids. Half were from Dumfries & Galloway - Gatehouse of Fleet, Wigtown and Moffat. The others were Dalmellington, Dunblane and Strathaven. An international panel chose Wigtown.

The former county town of Wigtownshire had been at its lowest ebb. There were many empty and run-down properties,
and the almost derelict County Buildings on the town square were threatened with demolition.
Wigtown then had one of the highest levels of unemployment in Scotland, but the town
boasted a beautiful setting
and a rich history.

Now there are more than a dozen bookshops and related businesses here. In 1999 the new Scottish Parliament acknowledged Wigtown as Scotland's National Book Town.

Friends of Book Town

By becoming a Friend, you can support the festival and get a variety of perks at the autumn
event and in Wigtown all year round. Prices start at £40. Full details on the website or from the box office.

Volunteers

Heartfelt thanks to our volunteers, too numerous to list individually. They are the lifeblood of our festival. Without them, the magic would not happen.
